

Wacky Races!

Fun and wacky – build, decorate and race a team go-kart. For groups of between 12 and 100 aspiring Jenson Buttons! An outdoor team building event lasting half-a-day.

Wacky Races is a fun and active team building event loosely based on the popular TV series of the same name. The plot is simple...outlandish teams compete in a series of races around the globe in their magnificent racing machines to become "The World's Wackiest Racer".

Each team will receive a suitable team name (The Penelope Pitstops, The Arkansas Chugabug, The Ant Hill Mob etc.) and a basic kart chassis on which to create their dream machine. All construction equipment will be sold by competitive auction with teams able to add to their cash-pile by solving brainteasers and conundrums.

Each team will customise their kart to create a colourful and eye-catching vehicle to carry one of their team members in the races. A parade of competitors will take place before the race series begins. Slalom and relay races will determine the starting positions of the grid for the final showdown!

Teams jockey for position around the karts, the starter is poised and with almighty team spirit the karts are launched down the track and the final race is on!

The checkered flag signals the winning kart and the end of the race to great applause. With scores totaled, the presentation is announced and the traditional bottles of champagne are presented to the winners. A good soaking all round is assured.

We provide a race co-ordinator, marshals, bunting and race course, covered area (gazebos) for control centre, checkered flag, champagne for the podium, megaphone, trophy and all the equipment, and tools for the karts.

A great team event to pep up your meeting or awayday that can be run from loads of different venues across the UK.
